All the students now please open page number 190 of your book

Insurance:-

Insurance may be defined as a contract in writing whereby one party (known as the insurer) undertakes (promise) to indemnify the other party (called the insured) in consideration for a certain sum of money (called premium) against any loss or as a result of some uncertain event (called risk). The contract providing for insurance is known as 'insurance policy'.

"Insurance is a form of contract under which one party agrees in return of a consideration to pay an agreed amount of money to another party to compensate for a loss, damage and injury as a result of some uncertain event."

Features of Insurance:-

- (1) Insurance is a contract between two parties.

- (2) One party (insured) agrees to pay premium in lump sum or in instalments at periodical intervals.
- (3) The other party (insurer) undertakes to compensate the insured against loss upto the specified limit.
- (4) It is a contract of indemnity.
- (5) It covers the risk of uncertain event in future.
- (6) It is based on the principle of 'cooperation' whereby one person's loss is shared by many persons.
- (7) It is a social device for spreading the risk among a large number of persons.
- (8) Insurance involves no pooling of risks.

It should be noted that insurance does not prevent the risk of loss but only helps in distributing the loss over a large number of persons.
