Poem - I wish I were.

Summary :- The poem is about a child's wild imagination.

The child wants to be a baseball cap, as the cap is always on someone's head. Then he thinks otherwise as we take off the cap when we go to bed.

Then he wishes to be a shining star. He wants to give light to people at night but again he thinks otherwise, as stars appear only at night.

Then he wishes to be an engine, which is covered by a hood, but then he realizes that it will be suffocating for him to be breathing gas in that closed area.

At last he feels happy that he is a boy instead of a cap or a car or a bird or a toy.

He thanks god for being a boy.

* Children will have to learn the poem - 'I wish I were' by heart.
